Coniston's Courtship.

John Gordon Annesley, Earl of Coniston, sat in the cabin of the Brighton boat, reading his evening paper. He had just folded and put in his pocket a long letter from his friend and partner, Sir Campbell Frazer, in which the gentleman announced that affairs at the Ranch of San Rosalie were going on perfectly, but that he must beg his 'dear old Jack' to put off his sailing date just a fortnight, as he now found that he could not be in New York possibly before the close of the month (October) or later.

Coniston was in the midst of a frown over this piece of intelligence as he glanced over the paper. He hated America and Americans; he longed to put the sea between himself and this displeasing nation; he yearned for 'shooting' and the Highlands; he scorned the gayeties of all the American watering places, and stopped at the Pavillion—solely, as he openly avowed, because Brighton was an English name for a place, and for the other reason that here he was within an hour of Pier 38 North River, and could step on board a Guoin boat at almost a moment's warning. Coniston, therefore, chaffed under the affliction of an additional fortnight in the land of loathing. Albeit the Ranch of San Rosalie was adding a considerable number of thousands to his income, he still—just at this particular moment—wished it at bottom of the Red Sea.

Perhaps, too, he mingled with the afflictions of the exile some memories of Lady Cicely Howard, and the strange penchant he had for her during the last London season.

However this may be, Coniston's vacant eye at this juncture took in a very neat little figure as it advanced in the cabin; it was followed by another—a plump, middle-aged lady's figure, much burdened with shawls and wraps, and evidently in deadly peril of a draught, for before seating itself, both the neat little figure and the plump duenna examined carefully the fastening of all adjacent windows.

'This one seems tightly closed, Aunt Dorinda,' the girl said, in her clear, light voice.

'Horrible American tone, calculated to lacerate a fog!' mentally commented his lordship.

'No, Polly, no; I am sure——'

'Polly! ye gods!' soliloquized the earl. 'Suggestive only of comic opera, milkmaids and parrots. And she has short hair!—he never could abide a short-haired woman. And she was small. Small women had always, from youth up, constituted his pet aversion! Dressed in brown; brown as a color was distressing, in fact it was no color at all!' Coniston had all his nation's prejudice in favor of brilliant hues.

She is alert, bright, vivacious; all that a woman should not be; what a contrast to Cicely, who was the perfection of languor, dreaminess and repose!—and yet Cicely was sometimes rather of a bore.

He wondered if this young person was a bore? Now that he inspected her, he observed that she had a certain reticence of face and manner that was wholly un-American. She had seen him looking at her, of cousre. By Joye! where was his paper? on the floor! and yet for some inscrutable reason she did not return his gaze squarely out of those large eyes of hers. It was strange! It struck Coniston as a remarkable fact, worth recording, that he had encountered one American girl who declined to reciprocate the delicate attentions of his eyes.

Why! there came Bradford! such a capital fellow for an American.

Bradford knew her.

She smiled at Bradford, and allowed him to sit beside her, and gave him her wrap to hold.

To be sure, Coniston remembered that he had always thought Bradford very much of a cad, and not a nice fellow by any means.

And Bradford held her wrap, and they all went off the boat together in the friendliest sort of fashion, with the maid trotting after them with the satchels and dogs.

No, he had always had a special aversion for that Bradford! And as for small women, with short hair, dressed in brown—well, his disgust for them was not to be measured by any language.

Nevertheless, as Coniston wilily argued with himself, 'a man must fill up his time;' so, in an off hand way he just intimidated to Bradford that he didn't care—if the opportunity offered—if he did introduce him to Mrs. Waddle and her niece, Miss Grey.

Bradford was apparently magnanimous; besides, he had never presented an earl to Grey before—and he did the deed with satisfaction to himself at least.

Miss Grey bowed slowly to Coniston, and then she turned her attention to a group of lady friends sitting near, leaving Coniston to the agreeable knowledge that he was at liberty to salute her the next time he met her on the piazza or the corridor.

It didn't satisfy him.

He went off and smoked a cigar, and conjured up Cicely in the fragrance of the Havana.

Even Cicely did not seem to be as completely a boon as he had fancied she ought to be.

For five days he wandered up and down, and round and round the hotel, 'lounging,' he called it; but the more correct term to describe these peregrinations would be—politely chasing Polly Grey.

Finally he beheld her alone. Neither aunt nor Bradford nor friends—heaven be praised—were anywhere about.

He drew near the big rocker, where she sat with a book in her lap, and suddenly Coniston remembered that he should have to say something beyond 'good-morning,' and for the first time in forty-one years he actually wondered what it should be.

She spared him the attempt, however and glancing up, said:

'Ah! good-morning; you have been up in town, I suppose, ever since the day Mr. Bradford presented you?'

'Up in town?' This was too much, when he had followed her like a detective the entire time.

Coniston looked feebly at her, and then he laughed, and his fair face flushed as he ventured to sit down on the piazza-step at her feet. Polly glanced down inquiringly with steady, demure eyes.

'No,' he cried. 'Miss Grey, I've been most of the time about a yard and a quarter away from you; but you never seemed to see me!'

'How strange!' Polly says, wonderingly. 'Most people would have seen you, now, wouldn't they?'

'Women always have before,' he assented, with a sigh.

'Then you must have rejoiced in a change, didn't you? Variety is so pleasant to an appetite jaded by sameness!'

'No,' he answers; 'I didn't enjoy it at all. I'll tell you,' he says, looking up at her with wide, clear eyes; 'to be frank, I hate American women, and you're the only one who ever inspired me with the slightest——'

Coniston stops short; there is something in his listener's face that marks an unerring period in his reckless speech.

'Well?' she asks, sweetly and clearly, ''—the slightest'?'

The English language is Coniston's native tongue, but it fails him now; he feels the warm blood suffusing his face as his mind runs after an elusive woman.

'Ah, I see; there are some things so much better implied than expressed. But I am so matter-of-fact that I must translate your mute eloquence, Lord Coniston——' At this moment Coniston is lost in calculating how many minutes he can stand this present temperature of his dead and face—'into words, or a word—curiosity, eh? Come, be twice frank—is it not so?'

'You may christen it curiosity, and call it so, pro tem., if you choose, Miss Grey, but——'

The earl again falters.

'Oh!' cries the girl, with a little impatient wave of her hand, and throwing back her pretty blonde head; 'how I abhor Englishmen! They are so in terror of even their minor emotions. A Frenchman, a German, an Italian, any other nationality in the world is ready and eager to put his flirtatious propensities into the most delicious language; but an Englishman!'—she shudders—'he stops to wonder what he is about to feel, and lo! the emotion vanishes! ha! ha! ha!'

Miss Grey laughs a long, musical, ringing laugh.

Coniston looks at her, and he wonders if he has ever really seen her until this morning? She looks like the brightest part of sunshine as she sits there in it, mocking him.

"Perhaps we do avoid putting what you call our 'flirtatious propensities' into words; but if you will permit me to say so, an Englishman is only too ready to speak out that which he really feels!'

'Do they ever 'feel' anything outside the hunting-field and the House of Commons?' she asks provokingly.

He smiles as he looks at her.

'I will tell you some day.'

Not long after Coniston rides with Miss Grey—a long afternoon ride on the road by the bay and through the woods and past the farms busy with their Autumn fruit-gathering.

They chat of commonplace things—the flowers, the birds, the clouds, the blue of sea and sky, and they come home soberly enough, too soberly, he thinks.

There is a ball that night, the last of 'the season.' Coniston is not a dancing man, so he has the satisfaction of watching Miss Grey floating about the ballroom principally with Bradford. He stalks out on the piazza, brilliant with lanterns, and then saunters to the other end, where it is comparatively quiet.

Polly sits there, and Bradford—Bradford!—is bending above her, he even has her hand; and now he goes in and leaves her.

Coniston is a madman as he rushes into the other man's place, and leans trembling over her chair. She is quite silent.

'It is I,' he whispers, brokenly.

'I know,' she replies, softly.

'Oh, child!' cries he, 'you must listen to me; I am a good-for-nothing sort of a fellow; I have had no religion, not anything, until I have known you, and now you are my shrine. It seems to me at your feet I should lay rare spices, perfumes, flowers, jewels—and all I dare lay there to-night is a human heart—a human life, Polly,' he says, lowly stooping his blonde head to hers. 'Will you have me?'

He sees her face as she upturns it in the flare of the last lantern; it is as he has never seen it—pale, stricken, awful, calm.

'Well!' she says, at last, with that clear, bright voice of hers, a trifle hard, a trifle matter-of-fact.

'Oh, I love you, my soul! my queen! I love you and need you,' cries he, over come by the sight of her pallor.

'I know,' she answers quietly, 'I appreciate, value your love; I would not have it otherwise; I should have been disappointed always if you had not loved me. Ah?' burying her white face in her hands, 'I revel in it!'

And he had once thought this woman cold, superficial, unlikable.

'My darling!' Coniston says, reaching out his hand for hers.

'But,' whispers the girl, drawing away in her silken wrap, 'I—I—am engaged to be married to Eugene Bradford. I have been for two years!'

Sir Campbell Frazer had arrived from the West. The Arizona was to sail Tuesday, and both he and the Earl of Coniston were booked on her passenger list.

It was Monday night—'midsummer come again,' people said, lounging about the piazzas of the big hotel—warm, sultry, with great banks of blue-black clouds hovering above the golden rim of the west.

Bradford was up in town, detained by business, as Coniston had discovered. Miss Grey was sitting at the corner of the piazza. He went up to her for the first time since the night of the ball.

'May I sit down?'

She looked assentingly.

'I am going to-morrow in the Arizona.'

'I know,' she answers, whitening.

He wonders why, and, Heaven help him! he gets up and goes away, when he would rather far have taken the frail, vivacious, alert little woman to his heart.

Presently he saunters back.

'Would you take a ride with me to-night! You know we shall never on earth see each other again. Would you?'

Her eyes flash, her lips quiver; she turns the ring on her finger back and forth.

'Yes,' she says, quietly, 'I will. I will get on my habit and be down presently.'

They ride off—off into the green and silent country lanes, where the dew damps the air, and where the scent of the homestead flower gardens mingles with the breath of the sea as it comes to them.

They do not talk very much, nor yet ride fast. The twilight is gathering and the horses have their way.

Suddenly it grows dark—the blue-black clouds have crept over all the brightness of the heavens and hidden the harvest moon from sight.

A flash—an instantaneous report, and Polly sees her lover stagger in his seat; his left arms falls powerless, struck forever useless at his side.

She had her horse beside him in an instant; she comes close to his side, while the great rain drops fall splashing down upon them. She takes up the stricken arm in her soft hands, and presses her young lips upon it.

'Polly!' cries Coniston wildly, 'do you love Bradford?'

'Oh, no!' she says.

'Will you marry me?'

'Yes,' she whispers.

'Now—to-night—this very hour?'

'Yes, this very hour if you wish it. Oh!' cries the girl, wildly, 'Jack, I'll be so good to you. I must be, don't you see? This—this!' She touches his arm as he tries to guide his horse and hold her to him, both. 'He does not need me like that, and you do; and it is my fault—I ought not to have come out to-night with you!'

'Thank God you did!'

'And,' she says, slowly, as they turn their horses heads, 'besides, I—I love you; is it not strange?'

'Very. And you will not regret owning a fellow as—as helpless as I am, Polly?'

'No,' she answers, thoughtfully, and looking at her by the lightening's frequent flash, he sees the strength, and warmth, and tenderness, and love, that he has need of.

'Polly,' Coniston says, through the pelting rain, as they ride back to Brighton, 'it seems to me as if my whole life had been an interrogation point and as if you were the blessed answer to it.'

And so it fell out that the reverend pastor of St. Mary's was called upon to marry two drenched people that November night, and that the Earl of Coniston put off his sailing date another month.

The Boy Next Door.

BY MRS. MARGARET E. SANGSTER.

Next to his big brother, for whom our boy entertains a feeling of boundless admiration, the person who has the most to do with educating him is the boy next door. We deny ourselves not only luxuries, but conveniences, that we may place our boy in the best school attainable; we are careful and assiduous with regard to his diet and his clothing, and the ventilation of his bedroom; yet we are often strangely indifferent as to the influence upon him of his familiar friend and playmate. The boy next door stands for the associate who sits beside him in the class-room, who shares his luncheon at the noon recess, with whom he walks to and from school. What do we know about the home atmosphere from which this boy comes, of the principles and code of manners which obtain in his father's house? Is he, like our boy, accustomed to hear the Bible quoted as the rule of daily living, and to see all mooted points brought rigidly to the test, "What would Jesus bid us do?"

It is a great advantage to our little man if he has a brother to whom he may look loyally and trustfully, and whose good example outweighs a myriad precepts. But suppose he himself is just now the only, or the biggest boy in the home; or, suppose the brothers are so far his seniors in age as to be removed from much sympathy with his pursuits? I remember to have heard an eminent physician say that, in his opinion, half the difficulties in family training would be surmounted, if only parents started their eldest children right. "Let the first boy in the home be truthful and obedient," he said, "and the rest will naturally follow his lead." In the main, my friend's observation has been proved correct. Still, it is neither possible nor desirable to confine our little men to the home companionship, excluding every other, for childhood's world should be an introduction to the larger world beyond it, the world of thought, enterprise, and action.

When, not long ago, I heard a father remark that he must change the environment of a child who had grown up to the age of sixteen in hotels and boarding-houses, because he noticed a touch of forwardness, a certain loudness of tone about the child's manner, unbenefiting youth and refinement, I felt like saying. "My dear sir, you are just sixteen years too late in your reformation. No quiet household life now will renew the bloom which the publicity of your previous arrangement has rubbed from the child's mind and manner." None of us can afford to postpone attention to our children's friendships, for, whether or not we accept it as a fact, we shall find on examination that the friendships of childhood often give bent to character and affect the entire life.

One of the sweetest, wisest, and most successful mothers of my acquaintance, makes it a point, always, of knowing the mothers of her children's school friends, and of maintaining some sort of social intercourse with them. Not necessarily on the plane of social equality, but in order that she may be assured that no injury to her children's morals shall come through intimacy with those of whom she knows nothing.

I believe in having the boy's play hours under tender mother-brooding, if not under minute mother-inspection. To insure quietude and order in the house, to keep carpets from wearing and paint from stain, many boys are allowed to go where they choose for recreation, the mother calmly satisfied if only they are out of her way. Shall I ever forget the plaintive despair of one little fellow, aged six, who came up stairs, his copper-toed boots emphasizing his desperation at every step.

"I have been in the library, and mama dosen't want me; I have been in the nursery, and Mary won't have me; I have been in the kitchen, and cook has driven me out; there is no place in the house for me. I know what I'll do, I'll go into the street." And into the street he went, to find what company he could. And the mother, lounging by the fire with a novel, or matching silks in her embroidery, was content to let him go.

In contrast to this, a little incident which came to my knowledge not long ago may be suggestive. The mother is a woman of many engagements and interests. She had spent a day in arduous work, and as the wintry twilight deepened she lay on the sofa in her fire-lit room, seeking a brief rest for mind and body. Presently she heard a step on the stairway outside, a soft, considerate step, unlike the usually precipitate progress of her twelve-year-old boy. "Darling," she called, "where are you going?"

"Oh, mamma, are you awake? I thought you were sleeping, and I did not want to disturb you. It's so dull in the house, I meant just to go out doors and loaf around awhile till dinner time."

"Come talk to me, dear, and we will not be dull," said the mother, feeling thankful that the opportunity had not escaped her. "I stopped him just in time," she said, gratefully.

A boy can have no better intimate friend after all than his own father. The beautiful confidence with which some sons approach some fathers, telling them not of their success only, but of their defeats, of their trials as well as their triumphs, is the best introduction that a child can have into the knowledge of the Heavenly Father's love.

True as it is, that many hard-working fathers have little time to spare for taking their children's measure, being so busy in bread-winning or in laying up money, that they delegate all their responsibilities to their wives, and are practically strangers to their boys; it is nevertheless a pity and an error. Worse, it is a sin. What shall the father, awakening too late to a sense of his blunder, urge except that old and fruitless excuse, "While Thy servant was busy here and there, he was gone."

Next to a father a good companion for a growing boy is sometimes to be found in such a guide, philosopher, and friend, as Jonas proved to Rollo. I wish children would still read the Rollo books, as they used to. It is hardly the fashion at present to praise anything didactic in the line of childish reading, but the Rollo books remain unapproached in their fitness for childish minds and hearts; and, over all the years that lie between us, I send my love to Jonas, as one of the best companions a little girl ever had, and the charming mentor of the little girl's brother.

Look well to the boy next door, if you desire your boy to grow in favor with God and man, even as he grows in stature.

Miscellaneous News.

Tin from Dakota.

First Shipment of the Ore from the Black Hills.

CHICAGO, July 14.—The first tin ore ever taken out in the Western Hemisphere arrived at the Northwestern Railway station to-day from the Black Hills, Dakota, on its way to New York. The importance of this fact will be better understood when it is stated that the United States now import $30,000,000 worth of tin annually. The ore, which will reach this city to-day, is from the mines of a company doing business at Harney's Peak, in the Black Hills, and which, owing to the amount of money actually subscribed, and the fact that it has taken possession of the great tin deposits covering an area of 7,000 square miles, must be looked upon as the greatest mining company extant. Superintendent Baily, of the Harney's Peak Company, who is in the city, said to-day:

"The tin belt is situated around the base of Harney's Peak, the highest point in the hills, with an altitude of 8,443 feet. This mountain is the granite core of the hills. The granite is 18 miles long north and south, by 13 wide east and west. Around the line of contact with that and the slates, in a circle of from two to four miles wide the tin belt exists. The outcrops of tin are simply enormous, varying in width from 10 to 200 feet, and appear above the surface from 500 to 3,000 feet. In some places they stand from 5 to 30 feet above the surface, so hard as to resist the elements. The geological condition is the same as that of Cornwall, England and other tin districts."

Starvation in Texas.

WEATHERFORD, Tex., July 15.—A telegram was sent to Congressman Lanham yesterday at Washington, asking him to secure Government aid for the people of the drought-stricken regions of Texas. Hundreds of families are without the necessaries of life.

120 Degrees in the Shade at Fort Keogh.

FORT KEOGH, Mont., July 15.—The mercury yesterday reached a maximum of 120 degrees in the shade. There has been no rain for a month.

—Baxter's Mandrake Bitters cure indigestion, heart burn, costiveness and all malarial diseases. Twenty-five cts. per bottle. Sold by J. Spigelmyer and D. S. Kauffman & Co., Millheim.

Hunting for a Panther.

A Savage Beast Prowling Around Carbon County—A Girl's Narrow Escape.

EASTON, Pa., July 14.—Miss Mary Christman, living two miles from Stony Creek, Carbon county, while on her way home yesterday from a visit to a friend, was chased by a large panther. She was walking on the Lehigh Valley Railroad at the time. The panther came from the side of the mountain, and she did not discover it until it was but a short distance from her. She ran to the house near by, reaching there in time to avoid being attacked. The animal was about two feet high and five feet long. The same panther chased a lot of berry-pickers on the mountain during the afternoon. They ran to Rockport and gave the alarm. Last evening several men, armed with rifles, started for the mountain to search for the beast, but up to noon to-day had not succeeded in capturing it. This is supposed to be the same panther that frightened the switchmen at Penn Haven a few weeks ago.

LOSSES BY STORMS.

Hail, Rain and Lightning in Lancaster County.

LANCASTER, Pa., July 15.—Parts of Lancaster county were visited by severe hail storms yesterday afternoon and evening, the most severe sweeping in a belt half a mile wide through Conestoga, East and West Lampeter, Strasburg, Leacock and Earl townships. The tobacco was badly cut, but luckily most of it is small, and time will repair that damage. Where the tobacco was well advanced, though, the damage is irreparable. The corn was cut and knocked down, and the oats was leveled to the ground as if a heavy roller had been drawn over the fields. Hailstones in Strasburg were two and one-half inches long and half an inch thick, and in New Holland they were nearly as large as a man's fist. O'Brien's circus tent in New Holland was flooded. It was pitched in a hollow, and the water was over a foot deep. Landis Brackbill's hogpen in West Lampeter was struck by lightning, and five shoats were killed. Daniel Roether's barn, in West Earl, was struck by lightning and fired, but the neighbors extinguished the flames. A setting hen was killed, and the eggs were burned black.

Heavy Storm at Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, July 15.—A terrible rain storm visited this city to-night. It was more severe in the western section, being a kind of waterspout, unroofing many houses on Stricker street and Harlem avenue. Harlem square had trees torn up by the roots and limbs of others were wrung off. On Fremont avenue nearly all the houses were flooded. The damage will be great. The storm broke at Hollins street and moved northward 10 blocks to Harlem avenue. Joists were caught up by the wind and hurled through the air, carrying the destruction to windows and in some instances knocking chimneys and bricks from the tops of buildings. At a late hour to-night some of the streets are impassable from the blockade of tin roofs and scantling. No personal injury was sustained as far as can be ascertained.

The Storm in Indiana.

MARION, Ind., July 15.—Reports of of a wind, rain and hail storm which swept over this county on Tuesday show that the devastation was much greater than indicated by the first reports. In some places hail fell and covered the ground two inches, and in other places corn, oats and fruits are in a total loss. The corn stalks are stripped and broken. Oats are beaten flat on the ground, and the fruit is beaten from the trees. Wheat, which was nearly all in the shock, will, much of it, have to be gathered out of the woods and corn-fields where it was carried by the wind. Probably a hundred buildings in the county were unroofed or blown down. The damage is roughly estimated at $75,000.

Crops Cut to Pieces in Illinois.

CHICAGO, July 15.—The growing crops of some 30 square miles of territory in Champaign, Condit, Hensley, and Tolono townships, Illinois, were considerably damaged by the hail storm of Tuesday night. Corn and other vegetation were literally cut to pieces. Thousands of panes of window glass were broken. The loss can not fall below $100,000. The storm was accompanied by a whirlwind, and its effects are seen on territory six miles wide and twelve miles long.

Fruits and Crops Damaged in Ohio.

NEWARK, Ohio, July 15. — This city was visited by one of the most severest storms ever known, yesterday. Over $50,000 damage was done, the greatest loss being to the fruits and growing crops. Several business blocks had their roofs carried away. Men, women and children were terribly frightened. The storm was of about an hour's duration, the wind high, hail terrific, lightning fierce, and rainfall heavy.

Democratic State Convention.

The Democratic State Convention of Pennsylvania will assemble at the Opera House, in the City of Harrisburg, at 10 a. m., on Wednesday, Aug. 18th, to nominate candidates for Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Auditor General, Secretary of Internal Affairs and Congressman-at-Large. The Convention will consist of 359 Representative Delegates, selected under the rules of the party from the respective Assembly Districts of the State, one for each 1000 votes cast for Governor at the last preceding gubernatorial election, or for a fraction of 1000 such votes, amounting to 500 or more, in the respective districts, provided that each representative district sheall have at least one delegate.

W. U. HENSEL,
Chairman Dem. State Com.

J. B. LICHTY, Secretary.

Democratic Delegate Election and County Convention.

The Democratic voters of Centre county will meet at the regular places of holding the general election for their districts on SATURDAY, AUGUST 7, 1886, to elect delegates to the Democratic County Convention. The election will open at 2 o'clock p.m. and close at 6 o'clock p.m.

The delegates chosen at the above time will meet at the Court House, in Bellefonte, on to nominate: One delegate to the State convention to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of L. G. Lingle; four delegates to the State convention in 1887; one candidate for Congress and three Congressional conferees; one for State Senate, and three Senatorial conferees; two for Assembly; one for Prothonotary; one for district Attorney; one for County Surveyor, and to transact such other business as shall properly be brought up and the interests of the party may require.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 10, 1886, at 2 P. M.,

The rules governing the election of delegates, as well as the names of those chosen to hold the elections, will be published prior to the election.

ADAM HOY, Chairman.
L. A. SCHAEFFER, Secretary.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

CONGRESS.

We are authorized to announce J. L. SPANGLER, of Bellefonte, as a candidate for Congress, subject to democratic rules.

SENATE.

We are authorized to announce HON. C. T. ALEXANDER, of Bellefonte, as a candidate for the State Senate, subject to the decision of the Democratic county convention.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

We are authorized to announce MR. J. C. MEYER, of Bellefonte, as a candidate for the office of District Attorney, subject to the decision of the Democratic County Convention.

PROTHONOTARY.

We are authorized to announce MR. L. A. SHAFFER, of Bellefonte, formerly of Walker township, as a candidate for Prothonotary, subject to the decision of the Democratic County Convention.

We are authorized to announce WM. B. MINGLE, of Centre Hall, as a candidate for prothonotary, subject to the decision of the Democratic County Convention.

Announcement.

R. A. BUMILLER, Esq., EDITOR MILLHEIM JOURNAL.—Dear Sir: Some parties are circulating the report that I am not a candidate for Prothonotary. Now I desire to say to the Democrats of Centre County, that I am a candidate in earnest, and want to make the nomination if I can do so honorably, and hope the people will give my case fair consideration with the rest.

Respectfully Yours,
AARON WILLIAMS.

IN COMMENTING upon the retirement of Hon. A. G. Curtin from the congressional field some of the red-hot and superwise republican journals jump to the hasty conclusion that Gov. Curtin took this step with a view of becoming a candidate for Pennsylvania's governorship. Don't know whether it is for the want of something else to say or for the love of talking that they spring these wild reports, but certain it is that their statement is without a shadow of foundation. The old Governor simply feels that he has done his full share in the service of his country and consequently wishes to enjoy the rest to which he is fully entitled. But at the same time those fidgety papers know full well that if Mr. Curtin would wish to enter the race the chances are that he would get away with the whole pack of them and that he would make as fine a governor as the commonwealth had since he himself occupied that office. We give below a short dialogue between the Ex-Gov. and a reporter of the Philadelphia Times, bearing upon the talk of Curtin's nomination for Governor, which should allay all fears of the Beaver organs:

"There is talk about your nomination for Governor."

"I feel complimented by the mention, but it is pure speculation. I expect to go back to Bellefonte and spend the rest of my days in ease and retirement. I think that the Democratic party, with wise nominations, will have an excellent chance of success. Things are badly mixed in the Republican lines."

Referring to the relations between himself and Cameron, the Governor said: "I think Cameron has quit, and so have I."

REPUBLICAN CONGRESSMEN and some republican papers have been working hard to make it appear as if the democratic party neglected the soldier and soldiers' widows and orphans. Mr. Springer, of Illinois, however, has furnished convincing proofs from the official documents in the pension bureau that the present democratic administration has in proportion granted more pensions than any of the republican administrations. For instance Grant during his two terms [8 years] signed but 542 private pension bills. During the 47th congress, which was republican in both branches, 151 pension bills were passed. Now the 48th congress, in which the democrats had a majority in the house, passed 552 and the present congress, since December has already passed 665.

It is true, President Cleveland vetced about 90 of the last 665 pension bills, but it was sufficiently proven that he did so for weighty reasons and all deserving and honest claimants will only benefit by his cautious procedure.

PRESIDENT Cleveland vetoed the bill appropriating $150,000 for the erection of a new government building in Dayton, Ohio, saying that the old structure has ample accommodations and that it is unneccessary to incure the expense of building a new one.

MORRISON offered a concurrent resolution in the House on Monday, for the final adjournment of Congress at 3 o'clock, July 28th. The resolution was referred to the Committee of Ways and Means.

PURCELLS, Utterly and Shaeffer, democratic candidates for Congress in Mifflin county have withdrawn from the field and Andrew Reed is now the only candidate in the county.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND meant business when he issued the following order to office-holders, regarding the contemptible fashion of partisans in government employ, to use their influence in political campaign work.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, D. C., July 14, 1886.—To the Heads of Departments in the Service of the General Government: I deem this a proper time to especially warn all sub ordinates in the several departments and all office-holders under the General Government against the use of their official positions in attempts to control political movements in their localities. Office-holders are the agents of the people, not their masters. Not only is their time and labor due to the Government, but they should scrupulously avoid in their political action as well as in the discharge of their official duty offending, by a display of obtrusive partisanship, their neighbors who have relations with them as public officials. They should also constantly remember that their party friends from whom they have received preferment have not invested them with the power of arbitrarily managing their political affairs. They have no right as office-holders to dictate the political action of their party associates, or to throttle freedom of action within party lines by methods and practices which prevent every useful and justfiable purpose of party organization. The influence of Federal office-holders should not be felt in the manipulation of political primary meetings and nominating conventions The use by these officials of their positions to compass their selection as delegates to political conventions is undecent and unfair, and proper regard for the proprieties and requirements of official place will also preyent their assuming the active conduct of political campaigns. Individual interest and activity in political affairs are by no means condemned. Office-holders are neither disfranchised nor forbidden the exercise of political priviliges, but their privileges are not enlarged nor is their duty to party increased to pernicious activity by office-holding. A just discrimination in this regard between the things a citizen may properly do and the purpose for which a public office should not be used is easy in the light of a correct appreciation of the relation between the people and those intrusted with official place and a consideration of the necessity under our form of government of political action free from official coercion. You are requested to communicate the substance of these views to those for whose guidance they are intended

GROVER CLEVELAND.

The Canadian Thistle Pest.

The farmers of every community should sternly enforce the law of 24th April, 1885, forbidding all citizens from allowing the Canadian thistle to go to seed on their premises. It is one of the most pestilential weeds of all that now pollute the fields of the farmers, and it spreads from the thriftless to the land of the thrifty with fearful rapidity.

The law of 1885 provides that any person holding lands by lease or otherwise, who shall allow the Canadian thistle to go to seed on their premises, shall be fined fifteen dollars, to be paid to the school fund of the district. Any citizen who is likely to be injured by the spread of the pest from his neighbor's lands, may give notice to have the weeds cut before going to seed, and if not done, the Constable or Supervisor is required to enter upon the property, cut the weeds and can compel the payment of labor and costs from the holder of the polluted lands.

No average farmer or good citizen should require official notice from an officer to make him cut the Canadian thistle before it ripens its seed. A few hours' work at most would cut it on any average farm, and the holder of any land should cut it for his own protection. It is destructive of all crops when it gets rooted in fields, and its downy seeds are wafted hither and thither to pollute all neighboring lands.

Supervisors of public roads are also required, by the new law, to cut the Canadian thistle on or along all roads or unseated lands in their districts, and in case of failure, they are liable to a fine of ten dollars, to be recovered for the use of the parties about to be injured by such neglect or refusal. The present is the time to destroy the Canadian thistle pest, and every occupant of land should willingly and promptly obey the law.—Philadelphia Times.

Miscellaneous News.

At Turbotville, Pa., a few days ago, Miss Maria Frankenfield stood upon the roof of an out-house to pick cherries. She slipped, and fell upon the platform of a well 53 feet deep. The boards broke, and she went to the bottom. Her whereabouts were soon discovered, and ropes and ladders were placed at her disposal. She was fished out, and found not only alive, but very slightly injured.

Coal Trade Brightening.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., July 16.—The coal trade in the upper part of the county is brightening. Nearly every colliery around Ashland is working on full time, with the prospect of steady employment for the next three months. Capitalists have been prospecting for coal in that vicinity, and at Centralia have struck the Mammoth vein, which is 35 feet in thickness and is the largest vein in the anthracite region.

The Nanticoke Armory Burned.

NANTICOKE, Pa., July 16.—Broadway Hall, a large frame building used for amusement purposes, was completely destroyed by fire this morning. It was the property of Company G, Ninth Regiment, N. G. P., and served them as an armory. The company is at present in camp with the regiment at Bear Lake. The hall was built six years ago, at a cost of $6,000. The insurance was $2,000. The fire was of incendiary origin.

Treatment of Persons Overcome by Heat.

As we are now in the midst of the heated term of the year it may be interesting to know how to treat persons who may be prostrated by the heat. If one is overcome by the heat, is pale, weak and pulseless, he wants a teaspoonful of brandy, in water, to stimulate him. If he is florid in the face, and his heart is running like a windmill, he wants an application of cold water, with ice on the temples and wrists. The first is "overcome by the heat;" the second genuine "sunstroke," and a good deal more dangerous. The former is preceeded by nausea and dizziness; the latter, if there are any premonitions at all, with a sudden dimness of sight, everything turning green.

Members of the House Have a Fistic Argument.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Some weeks ago, in the course of a discussion in the House about some public land measures, Mr. Cobb, of Indiana, charged Mr. Laird, of Nebraska, with being personally implicated in some fraudulent transactions in connection with the public domain in the far west. Since then there has been naturally a coolness between the gentlemen, which today, however, gave place to a decidedly hot wave. They met in one of the House lobbies this afternoon, and it is said that Mr. Cobb called Mr. Laird some offensive name, and that thereupon Mr. Laird knocked Mr. Cobb down. Friends and by-standers then separated the combatants and prevented further hostilities.

IT WENT ROUND AMONG THE NEIGHBORS.—Mr. Levi Stahl, merchant and postmaster at Fostoria, Pa., writes:

'Mr. J. A. McDonald, Reedsville, Pa.

DEAR SIR:—Some time ago I had a severe attack of chronic diarrhoea. Could obtain no relief. A friend gave me a part of a bottle of your Cutis' Carmelite Cordial, and a few doses entirely cured me. The balance of the bottle went around among the neighbors. Since then I have written to New York and Philadelphia for the medicine but could not procure it. I traced up the bottle we had and found it was purchased of Mr. Jacob Cowan, merchant in Altoona, and from him obtained your address. Please forward me one dozen bottles by express at once, as I do not wish to be without it in my family and wish to sell it in my store.'

Single bottle Curtis' Carmelite Cordial guaranteed to cure any case of cholera, dysentery, diarrhoea, cramps, pains and all iritation of the bowels incident to change of climate, diet and water.

Committed on a Serious Charge.

SUNBURY, Pa., July 19.—Robert Parker, proprietor of the Curtis House, Shamokin, and quite a prominent citizen, and Robert Lawrence were brought to jail this morning, charged with having fatally beaten Vincent Rokus, a prominent Pole, of Shamokin, who was buried yesterday.

GOOD FOR MALARIA.—E. James, Thompsontown, Pa., writes:

Killed a Bear.

On Monday last C. W. Keiler, jobber for O. W. Wolf, on Shingle Branch, J. P. Robbins and Thomas Robins were working in the woods, and while J. P. Robbins was felling a tree for Keiler to spud, when the former saw a bear coming toward them. Having no guns at hand the men took positions behind trees, armed with their axes, quietly awaiting the approach of the bear. The animal came along, licking his chops and entirely ignorant of his impending doom. As he got opposite the tree that hid Robbins, Keiler whispered to let him have it, which was done, the blow from the axe disjointing the bear's neck. The animal weighed nearly 200 pounds.—Clinton Democrat.

—A misstep will often make a cripple for life. A bottle of Henry & Johnson's Arnica and Oil Liniment at hand, will not prevent the misstep, but used immediately it will save being a cripple. Sold by J. Spigelmyer and D. S. Kauffman & Co., Millheim.

LAY THEM AWAY.—We mean the horrible, nauseous worm-seed compounds called worm syrups and vermifuges; many of them as worthless as they are obnoxious. They have out-lived their usefulness. People do not want them since McDonald's Celebrated Worm Powders, so easy and pleasant to take, can be had from any dealer Everyone who has tried them say they are the nicest and best vermifuges ever discovered. The children take them and never know a medicine is being administered. Any case of failure to cause explosion where worms exist the money promptly refunded in every instance.

Thirteen Petrified Bodies.

ROCHESTER, Ind., July 19.—While Mr. T. Bowman, residing about three miles north of Akron, was engaged in setting posts a day or two ago he was greatly surprised to have a post with which he was packing the bottom of the whole break through and disappear from sight. He took his spade and dug down, with the intention of discovering where the seemingly bewitched post had disappeared to. The hole was soon enlarged, and a cave was disclosed. He procured a ladder and a lantern, and descended into the cave. Then the hair of the inquisitive Mr. Bowman stood on end. On the ground were the forms of 12 men, while a part of a thirteenth leaned up against the side of the tavern, with one hand outstretched, as if earnestly addressing his 12 comrades. Mr. Bowman examined the bodies and found them to be petrified. He soon made his exit and spread the news and up to the present time hundreds of people have visited the spot. The cave is about 20 yards square, and about 9 feet deep. There is much speculation about the strange discovery.

—THE NERVOUS, brain-working type of people, such as lawyers, clergymen, business men and students are the principal victims of hay fever. Sufferers may be certian that hay fever does not arise from an impure state of the blood. Local treatment is the only way to cure it. Judging from results, Ely's Cream Balm is the only specific yet dicovered. 28-4t

LOCAL NEWS.

—SUBSCRIBE for the JOURNAL.

—First-class job work done at the JOURNAL office.

—A large lot of old newspapers for sale at this office.

—This town ought to by all means have a bill board.

—Our townsman, Mr. Barnhart, is said to have an extra broad grin on his face. Twins!

—Mr. James Rankin, of Bellefonte, was in town yesterday, looking up the insurance business.

—The sidewalks of town are getting worse every day. What do our borough dads propose to do?

—Mrs. Kauffman, of Fisher's Ferry, came up on Friday evening's train, to visit her relations in this place.

—Mrs. John Toner, of Beech Creek, came home last week to pay a visit to her parents, Ex Sheriff Musser.

—Always in season—D. S. Kauffman & Co's new stock of good. Read their new advertisement on this page.

—For colds, croup, asthma, bronchitis and sore throat, use Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, and get the genuine.

—Dr. J. F. Harter, our dentist, sports a new shingle, painted by C. W. Albright. Charley can "toot" it.

—We call special attention to the article entitled "The boy next door" on our out side. There is lots of common sense in it.

—Lots of Huckelberries this season and the mountains are visited daily by parties gathering them. They sell at 5 cents a quart.

—Mrs. Kurtz, wife of Editor Kurtz, and Mr. Aaron Harter, of Centre Hall paid a short visit to friends in this place last Saturday.

—The Seltzer Band of Lock Haven contemplate going on an excursion to Penn's Cayes, near Farmer's Mills, some time this month.

—A. A. Frank had a new and substantial plank sidewalk constructed in front of his property on Penn street, occupied by Dr. Frank.

—Mr. Jacob Sankey, of this place, advertises his valuable farm, in Penn townrhip, for sale. The sale to take place on the 18th of August.

—Rev. M. I. Jamison, of Clintondale, was a caller at this office on Tuesday forenoon. He and his wife were over on a visit to their friends.

—Everyday brings forth something new under the sun and the latest is the discovery of a vast bed of gold-bearing quartz near Westport, Clinton county.

—When one sees the impure fats that are sometimes used in soap-making he is inclined to doubt the cleansing qualities of the soap. Dreydoppel's Borax Soap is made from the purest refined tallow, and is guaranteed pure and healthful.

—The band has received an invitation to attend the Festival of the Rebersburg band, which is to be held in a grove near that town next Saturday a week.

—Mr. McNevan, and lady, of New York city, who have been staying with landlord Musser, for several weeks, returned home on Saturday morning's train.

—The Great Zingari Toothache Drops, for toothache and neuralgia, have no equal. Only costs 15 cents at any drug store. Warranted. Sold by J. Eisenhuth, Millheim, Pa.

—A carload of stone crocks on the way. Look out for bargains.

D. S. Kauffman & Co.

—W. T. Auman expects to leave Millheim for New Berlin in a few days to teach common school in that town.

—Mr. A. J. Reesman, of Centre Hall, is about starting for Nebraska and Colorado, with the intention of settling in the latter state.

—The Orphans' Court Sale of the estate of Hon. John K. Runkle deceased, near Tusseyville, is advertised in another column. The sale will take place on the 28th of August.

—Mrs. E. Bartholomew and daughters spent the last three weeks at her parents' home in Nittany Hall. Her father, Mr. Jos. Shafer, brought them back to this place on Tuesday.

—Baxter's Mandrake Bitters cure indigestion, heart burn, costiveness and all malarial diseases. Twenty-five cts. per bottle. Sold by J. Spigelmyer and D. S. Kauffman & Co., Millheim.

—The Lewisburg University, is now called "Bucknell University," after Wm. H. Bucknell, of Philadelphia, who has given about $90,000 towards the improvement of the institution.

—Malaria in any of its forms, chills and fever, congestive chills can be prevented or cured by the use of Simmons Liver Regulator, a purely vegetable medicine, superior to calomel and quinine.

—The estate of John G. Weaver, dec'd, in Clinton Co., will be offered for sale by L. B. Stover, Trustee, on Friday, August 6th. See Orphans' Court Sale Notice under legal advertisements.

—Samuel Frank, executor, advertises the sale of the real estate of Michael Frank, dec'd, late of Penn township, to take place on the premises in Haines township, about 3 miles east of Aaronsburg, August 12th. See bills.

—It is stated that of 341 marriages in Camden, N. J., during the month of May, 280 were of couples from Pennsylvania. Shouldn't be surprised if Pennsylvania ministers would feel like emigrating to New Jersey.

—G. W. Wolf, of Fiedler, Haines township, wishes to notify the farmers that he will run his steam threshing machine throughout the season in Penns, Brush and Sugar Valleys. Persons wishing to engage his services will receive perfect satisfaction.

—We received information of the death of Mrs. Samuel Sankey wich occurred at San Francisco, Cal. on the 2nd of July. Mrs. Sankey was a daughter of Jerry Dreisbach, formerly of Millheim and will be remembered by many.

—"My phisician said I could not live. My liver out of order frequently vomited greenish mucous, skin yellow, small dry humors on face, stomach would not retain food. Burdock Blood Bitters cured me." Mrs. Adelaide O'Brien, 372 Exchange St., Buffalo, N. Y.

—We are in receipt of a splendid crayon portrait of Geo. R. Roberts, President of the Pennsylvania R. R. Co., executed by Root & Tinkers, N. Y.. and the compliments of Murphy & Co, Varnish Markers in that city. It is an ornament to any library or sanctum.

—The Pennsylvania Forestry Association publishes an eight-page paper, pamphlet form, with headquarters at Philadelphia. Its name is "Forest Leaves" and it is devoted to the advancement of forestry in this state. We acknowledge the receipt of the first copy.

—E. C. Campbell, one of our merchants, and W. J. Springer, the senior barber, put new safes in their places of business the other week. Several other firms, among them D. S. Kauffman & Co. have also received new safes. This looks like prosperity and an end to hard times.

—Our business men should not forget that the JOURNAL office turns out all kinds of business blanks, such as Letter Heads, Bill Heads, Statements, Tags, at very reasonable prices and in the best mechanisal style. Give this office a trial before going elsewhere with your work.

—Mrs. D. A. Musser, and her son, Milton, returned safely from their western visit to T. R. Stam's last Friday morning and are very much pleased with their trip. They report Mr. and Mrs. T. R Stam, as well as Clymer Musser, in good health and in prosperous circumstances.

NOTICE.—All persons who have dealings with us are requested to call on us and settle their accounts between this and the first of August, next. After that date the accounts will be put in the hands of a collector.

WHITMER & LINCOLN.

Coburn, July 15th 1886.

—The old wooden structure, formerly known as the Evangelical church, and which was lately purchased at public sale by Messrs. Elias Lose & Son, was rolled back last week and now rests upon its foundations, spanning Elk Creek. It will make a spacious and convenient planning mill shop.

—Mr. L. A. Shaffer, one of the candidates for Prothonotary, was in town on Monday, (show day) to talk politics, &c. Mr. Shaffer is a very pleasant gentleman with the best qualifications for that office and if "straws tell which way the wind blows" he will hold his own very well in the race for victory.

—We are requested to state that Mr. S. D. Gettig will open a subscription school at Coburn, Pa., on Monday, July 26th, inst.

—A NEW RESIDENTER.—The flitting of Mr. Geo. Hazel, of Madisonburg, arrived in town on Tuesday. Mr. Hazel is clerk in J. Spigelmyer's store and moved into the tannery house.

—The dog population of Millheim is 46 males and 4 females. The former are taxed 25 cents each, the latter $1. Some ought to be taxed at least $10.00 each, for their howling and barking at night.

—Messrs. John Foster and Elmer Weayer, the two Aaronsburg bicyclists frequently take a "spin" through Millheim, and are watched with a great deal of curiosity as they ride along on their treacherous steeds.

—Post 298, (Bierly,) of this place, numbering about thirty, have purchassed G. A. R. uniforms and in company with our well-uniformed band will certainly make a creditable show at Lewisburg on the 9th of September.

—Mrs. Lewis Mench, of Aaronsburg, has the thanks of the JOURNAL scribe for a mess of nice cucumbers and tomatoes of this year's growth. The lady evidently is a successful gardener and knows what poor printers like.

—Mr. A. L. Potter, one of Selinsgrove's foremost attorney's, accompanied by his wife and mother, arrived in town on Friday evening and stayed with Jacob Sankey's, on Main street over night. On Saturday morning they continued their drive to Nittany Valley, to visit relatives there.

—D. S. Kauffman & Co. are having a new and first-class stone crossing built in front of their store on Main street. John Rhoad, that excellent mason, does the work. This crossing is a much needed improvement, as all those who have occasion to cross the street in rainy weather will attest.

CHEERING WORDS.—Mr. C. J. Burkert, of Springfield, O., in renewing his subscription adds the following words of praise for the JOURNAL: "We who were formerly from the valleys of Central Pennsylvania and are now scattered through the West, highly appreciate the JOURNAL. It is newsy and fully abreast with the local papers east or west. The neighborhood correspondence is an acceptable feature."

—Post 52 (Tucker) has sent invitations to over 100 Posts to be here on the 9th Sept. Hope all will accept.—Lewisburg Chronicle.

As far as we know nearly all the posts in Centre county are arranging to attend the reunion at Lewisburg and the Lieut. W. W. Bierly Post, of this place, has extended an invitation to the Millheim Band to accompany them. It will be a red-letter day for the "boys in blue."

—Last Wednesday night about 1 o'clock, part of the northern wall of the brick kiln aboye town suddenly gave away and Mr. Armstrong, one of the hands working on the yard, was severely burned about the head by the hot brick falling upon him. He was lying in a hammock, which was fastened near the kiln, at the time, asleep, and entirely unconscious of impending danger. His wounds were dressed and we are glad to say will have no serious results. Mr. Stewart, headboss, is unable to account for the break.

—Candidates seem to travel with or after the shows, at least it looked so Monday. Several gentlemen with aspirations after office were in town on that day to take advantage of the gathering and talk to as many voters as possible. Not the least among them was J. L. Spangler, Esq., of Bellefonte, candidate for Congress. Another was Mr. Aaron Williams, whose card, stating his case, appears in the first column of our second page and who, if nominated will draw the solid vote of the county's democracy for prothonotary.

—Last week's Clinton Democrat contains the following item:

From Mr. Walker.

S. E. Walker, of Nittany Valley, and husband of the lady who died from the effects of injuries inflicted by a bull tramping her, writes and says the published reports of the terrible affair were misstated in some particulars. Mr. Walker's version is, substantially, the bull did not chase the woman, but, hearing her coming behind him, and being blind of one eye, was startled and turned quickly, knocking Mrs. Walker down. It was then that the animal pawed her, inflicting the injuries which proved fatal. He says that the bull was not a cross or vicious animal but as docile as a cow. Mrs. Walker died peacefully and her death is much regretted by all who knew her.

[Centre county papers please copy.]

This, of course, vindicates the bull, but it does not change the sad result a particle.

—Main's Circus, which had been exhibiting at Rebersburg, last Saturday evening, and was well attended there, came to this town on Sunday morning and took possession of the grounds, they had rented back of Penn street. Our people residing in that neighborhood all agree in the opinion that the show people conducted themselves very quietly and decorously during their stay. On Monday morning the big canvass tent was erected and very soon a crowd gathered to await the events of the day. At noon the town was fairly filled with people, and the free exhibition and parade was witnessed by nearly everybody that could be on hand. Both the afternoon and evening exhibitions were taken in by large crowds of people and most of them pronounced the performances very good and fully worth the low price of admission.

—A new lot of Real Manchester Chambray Ginghams, all shades, just received at Kauffman's store. They are beauties. Go and see.

—A mammoth timothy stalk measuring 6 feet 7 inches was brought to this office by Mr. Geo. Peters yesterday. It grew on his land north of town.

—There will be a meeting of Centre county Pomona Grange at Centre Hall, Tuesday, Aug. 3. JAS. A. KELLER, Master.
J. C. GILLILAND, Secretary.

—An interesting article from the Philadelphia Times on "Canada Thistles" appears on our second page. Since that obnoxious weed is allowed to grow freely along our highways and in some of the fields, some persons may profit by reading the piece.

—The personal property of the Lewisburg planing mill was sold at sheriff's sale last Saturday for $385.75. The machinery, fixtures and some lumber were bought by Messrs. C. H. Hassenplug, A. H. Dill and J. H. Kreamer and the mill will be in operation right along.

NOT ENOUGH WITH ONE.—We see by our Union county exchanges that brother Foote, of the Mifflinburg Times, has taken charge of a paper in Berwick, Columbia county, which he issues besides the Times. He divides the week between Mifflinburg and Berwick and must be as busy as a beaver. But no difference, as long as it pays.

—Rev. W. H. Diven, of Salona, spent Saturday and Sunday with friends here and at Aaronsburg, and on Sunday evening filled Rev. Deitzler's pulpit in the Lutheran church of this place. He took his text from Matt. XXII: 11-12.13 and gave his hearers a very interesting discourse. Rev. Diven's sermons are generally to the point and are full of instruction and admonition.

CHURCH FESTIVAL.—The members of the Lutheran church of Aaronsburg have decided to hold an appropriate church festival in this the 100th anniversary of the "burg of Aaron Levy" on Saturday, the 14th of August, next. The festival will be held on the lawn near the Lutheran church. The arrangements are at present incomplete, but the exercises will be suitable to the time and occasion. The public is cordially invited to attend.

AN $18,000 FIRE AT HOWARD.—Last Thursday afternoon the large four-story brick flouring mill at Howard, this county, owned by W. H. Long & Co., caught fire and was totally destroyed. The loss is estimated at $18,000, with no insurance. The fire is said to have been caused by friction of the machinery and as the borough is without any fire apparatus gained rapid headway and in an hour and a half the building was in ruins. The adjoining stable and other buildings were saved.

DEATH OF AN ESTIMABLE OLD LADY.—Mrs. Emanuel Ettinger, whose protracted illness and expected death is mentioned in this week's Aaronsburg correspondence, died at her residence at Aaronsburg yesterday [Wednesday] morning at a very advanced age. As the news reached us but shortly before we want to press we are unable to publish her obituary in this issue. The funeral will take place on Friday forenoon. Rev. Deitzler being on the sick list Rev. John Tomlinson, of Abbottstown, has been telegraphed for to conduct the obsequies.

—Col. J. W. Norris, of Philadelphia, the republican candidate for Auditor General, spent a few hours in town last Monday, when we had a pleasant talk with the gentleman, during which he remarked that he is in need of a good rest, and not being able to find it at the watering places and larger summer resorts, he chose the quiet town of Aaronsburg, where the surrounding mountains and hills shut out the busy and restless world. Col. Norris is a very sociable gentleman and a free conversationist. Upon his arrival at Aaronsburg last Saturday he was serenaded by our band in the evening, but feeling indisposed could not leave his room and the boys returned somewhat disappointed.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—Mr. James Witmyer, residing in what is called "Frogtown," a mile northeast of Millheim, while working at the new stillhouse at Coburn was seriously injured on Tuesday forenoon. He was rolling a log from the mountain and while thus engaged his hold on the cant-hook slipped, and the heavy leaver threw him about 15 feet into the air. He landed in the creek on his head, receiving several deep gashes and painful internal injuries. Dr. Frank who was called to attend the unfortunate man, says that his injuries may disable him for work for several weeks. Mr. Witmyer is a hard-working man with a family, who have the sympathy of the community in this trouble.

—Last week's Sunbury Democrat came out with a newspaper cut representing Rev. S. G. Shannon, the Lutheran pastor of that city. Right under the picture it publishes a short biography, winding up with the following eulogistic sentences:

Mr. Shannon is a preacher of great force and a splendid pastor. He is also very popular with all our citizens without regard to denomination. The great work of building a new church has been inaugurated under his pastorate, and if energy and push amounts to anything it will soon be built. A pleasant man in social intercourse, loved by his people, and respected by the entire community, no man stands higher in Sunbury than Rev S. G. Shannon.

As Rev. Shannou is known by nearly all our readers, and many of them are his personal friends, the above paragraph will be read with interest and pleasure and they will readily join the writer in his wishing the gentleman "Godspeed," in his high and responsible calling.

AN ORNAMENT.—If there is one thing that speaks well for a town it is a well-regulated cemetery, covered with fine tombstones, which give evidence that the community pays due respect to the memory of departed friends. Fairview cemetery was adorned last week with another very attractive monument, which marks the last resting place of some of the members of B. O. Deininger's family.

This family monument is composed of four pieces of different marble of the following dimensions: Base, Sutherland Falls Marble, 2 ft. 4 in. square and 1 ft 2 inches high; Sub Base, Whitney Marble, 1 ft 8 inches square and 8 inches high; Die, Tennessee Marble (dark) 1 ft 2 inches square and 3 ft 4 inches high; Urn, Whitney Marble, 10 inches in diameter and 1 foot 8 inches high. The total height of the monument is 6 feet and 10 inches, of beautiful Gothic design and excellent workmansnip. Messrs. Musser & Alexander of this place, erected this artistic piece of work and the purchaser as well as the manufacturers may justly feel proud of it. It is without a question the finest monument ever erected by our marble men.

Neighboring News.

COBURN.

The rain last week brought a number of fishermen here to spend the night fishing.

Candidates are now almost as thick as flies. There are several applicants from this section for the position of storekeeper at the new distillery here. It is hard to say who will turn up best as they are all good solid democrats.

W. H. Kremer purchased a family horse the other day and his boys received a team of goats as a present from some friend in Schuylkill Co.

Mr. J. Frank Torbert, of Williamsport, and Judge Whitmer, of Suntury, spent several days in town last week.

Col. J. Wilson Norris, candidate for Auditor General and his family got off the train here Saturday eve and took the hack for Aaronsburg where they intend spending a short time for rest and recreation at the hotel of Andy Immel, Esq.

F. P. Barker wishes to dispose of his property on account of his poor health. This would be a good opening for some energetic, enterprising man.

Mr. W. W. Kremer, of Emporia, Kansas, after spending several weeks in our village leaves for his western home to-morrow, Tuesday forenoon, leaving his wife and daughter here to spend the summer.

We noticed a communication in the Keystone Gazette, of Bellefonte, written by the Millheim correspondent, which reflects on our generosity and is a slur on our village. There is not much use in saying anything in reply to such a flimsy item. It is true, as we are informed, the promoters of the festival did ask the Millheim citizens for aid, which was generously given, as it should have been, as Millheim has frequently called on our citizens for aid in getting up festivals. As for treating the Millheim Cornet Band to two dishes of cream in the dusty road, is saying what is not true as the band were asked to come here and liven things up with some music and they kindly consented to come and we know that they were to be well treated and think they were. This was the second visit of the band to our village in a short time and we think they were well taken care of both times and do not think the writer of the article was a member of the band. How is it, Mr. Editor, you were with the band both times when here, what do you think of their treatment? We would not be surprised if the crank who wrote the item was one of the smart chaps who were here attending the festival and eat themselves chuck full of cake and Ice cream and then quietly slid out and left without paying for it. VALE.

Dear Vale, don't talk, it isn't worth while to spend the wind over all that is in the item or in the writer of the same. If anybody is slured at all it is correspondent in the Gazette.—Ed.

AARONSBURG.

Miss Polly Thomas has returned from her visit to Dakota.

Prof. Chas. Stover of the Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa., occupied Rev. Yearick's pulpit on last Sabbath.

Main's show at Millheim had quite a liberal patronage from our town and east Penns Valley.

On last Sunday evening the lightning struck a wheat shock in Mr. Wm. Stover's field, on the hill south of town, and the entire shock was burned to ashes.

How about that rooster, boys? You had better keep quiet and let good enough alone. It was a very unbecoming act for young men of your age and position.

A few farmers at Fiedler had a meeting to adopt a fixed price for harvest hands. Some agreed to pay $1.00 per day, others 75 cents and some even had the audacity to offer only 50 cts. per day. Self binders don't always work, especially if you don't know how.

At this writing Mrs. Emanuel Ettinger's condition is very hopeless. Her children have all been summoned to her bedside. Her death is momentarily expected.

Aaronsburg has quite a large number of visitors at present. Col. Jas. P. Coburn and Mrs. Eva Rogers are conjointly entertaining a number of their relatives from Clearfield county and others from the East, while Col. Norris and family, from Philadelphia, put up with Andy Immel, but for reasons unknown to your correspondent moved their quarters to Em'l. Cronemillers. What's got over you, Andy.

William Kreamer and wife, from Emporia, Kansas, were seen in town on last Saturday. N. W. Cronmiller, from Bellefonte, paid us a short, but friendly visit, and Mrs. J. W. Russell and her daughter Iva, from Lewisburg are the guests of Thos. Harpers. Pure air and pure water conspire to make our town attractive.

Rev. Diven, from Salona, was the honored guest of Rev. Reitzler during the close of last and beginning of this week. It was expected the visiting minister would preach for the Lutherans in this place on last Sabbath, especially since they are not having any services for two successive Sundays. ANOTHER.

ATTENTION FARMERS.—The threshing season is approaching and the whistle of the steam thresher will soon be heard throughout the country. Farmers should know whom to get in order to have their work done right. I am prepared to answer the first call and will endeavor to accommodate all my old customers, and as many new ones as may see fit to employ my services. Prof. Baney, the well-known champion thresher and his son, will have charge of my machine, and they will call on you in good season. Do not promise your threshing to anybody before you have seen the professor. My terms will be very liberal.

Yours truly,
H. O. DUCK.

SPRING MILLS.

Last Friday J. H. Bibby, one of our accomodating landlords took some of his guests to the mountains, south of this place in a spring wagon to show them the fine scenery and also to gather huckleberries. After they had arrived there he hitched his ponies to a tree and piloted his friends through the woods, leaving the ponies at their place. When he returned he was surprised to see that one of the ponies had torn the rope and was gone. He made a diligent search at once which he continued the next day but the lost could not be found. He has been on a hunt up to this writing (Tuesday) but with no success. It is feared that some one stole the animal and had cut the rope to leave the impression that the pony had torn loose and ran away.

On Monday morning as the colored porter, who drives the hack from and to the depot for the Shafer House, was turning his team at the depot, a small dog frightened the horses and a broken axle was the result of it. But no one was hurt.

The band festival on Saturday was a grand success. The Logan Hose Company from Bellefonte was here in full uniform. The Zion band furnished the music which was excellent and shows that the members of that band are men of energy coupled with musical talent. The candidates for various offices were on the ground looking up their interest and their friends. We understand that the proceeds amounted to about $160.

Miss Sue D. Miller is visiting friends in Tyrone, Pa. She expects to be absent about a month.

T. B. Jamison has gone to Millersburg, where he intends to sell fruit and ornamental trees.

Messrs. Dale and Underwood have the contract for building the new creamery building.

W. A. Brown is off to Harrisburg on business.

Prof. Hosterman will open his select school next Monday. The present indications are that he will have a large school.

Michael Grenoble who has been seriously ill for some time is on a fair way to recovery.

Krumrine & Bro. expect to rebuild their shingle mill which was recently destroyed by fire. **

MADISONBURG.

The farmers are about done hauling in grain.

Mr. Calvin Runkle, of Spring Mills, commenced his subscription school in town on Monday morning.

William Bierly, Emanuel Hazel, Geo. Yearick and Lewis Wolf shouldered their satchels on Monday morning and started for Rebersburg, where they will attend Prof. Gramly's school.

George Hazel moved to Millheim on last Tuesday, where he will clerk for J. Spigelmyer.

Mrs. Shaw and son, of Clearfield, are the guests of Dr. Lee.

D. S. KAUFFMAN & CO.

THE master told the boys of the third class to write a short essay on Columbus. The following was sent up by an ambitious essayist: "Clumbus was a man who could make an egg stand on one end without breaking it. The King of Spain said to Clumbus: 'Can you discover America?' 'Yes,' said Clumbus, 'if you will give me a ship.' So he had a ship, and sailed over the sea in the direction in which he thought America ought to be found. The sailors quarreled and said they believed there was no such place. But after many days the pilot came to him and said, 'Clumbus, I see land.' 'Then that is America,' said Clumbus. When the ship got near, the land was full of black men. Clumbus said, 'Is this America?' 'Yes, it is,' said they. Then he said, 'I suppose you are the Niggers?' 'Yes,' they said, 'we are.' The chief said, 'I suppose you are Clumbus.' 'You are right,' said he. Then the chief turned to his men and said, 'There is no help for it; we are discovered at last.'"

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria,

Weal Interesting.

'I say, Miss Belle, I think I can be weal intewesting to-night, even more so than usual,' said a young man who was born that way, and can't help it, to the young lady on whom he was calling.

'Is it possible?' was the response.

'Ya-a-s. You see I made a conundwum the other day and I wote it down weal quick so's not to forget it. Heah it is: Why is it when the weathah gets weal wahm, it's always s'mother evening? S'mother evening—ain't that good?'

'But what is the answer?' inquired the listener.

'Oh—the answer—er—by Jove! Do you know I forgot to make any answer to it. I must try and think one up.'

Of Interest to Ladies.

The new treatment for ladies' diseases discovered by Dr. Mary A. Gregg, the distinguished English Physician and nurse, which has revolutionized the entire mode of treating these complaints in England is now being introduced into the U. S., under a fair novel plan.

Sufficient of this remedy for one month trial treatment is sent free to every lady who is suffering from any disease common to the sex who sends her address and 13 2ct stamps for expense charges, etc.

It is a positive cure for any form of female disease and the free trial package is many times sufficient to effect a permanent cure. Full directions accompany the package (which is put up in a plain wrapper) also price list for future reference. No trial package will be sent after Aug. 1st, 1886. Address, GREGG REMEDY COMPANY, PALMYRA, N. Y. 19-3m

SHE WAS THERE.

Bob Ingersoll recently was talking with an old colored woman in Washington upon religious matters. "Do you really believe, Aunty," said he, "that people are made out of dust?" "Yes, sah; de Bible says de is, an' so I b'lieves it." "But what is done in wet weather, when there is nothing but mud?" "Den I s'pects dey make infiduls an' sich truck."—Puck.

A NEW French clock contains a novel application of the magnet. The clock appears like a tambourine with a circle of flowers painted on its parchment head. Around the circle crawl two bees, the largest requiring twelve hours to complete the circuit, while the smaller makes it in every hour. The flowers represent hour divisions, and the bees, which are of iron, are moved by two magnets carried just under the membrane, by the clockwork inside the tambourine.

TAKE SIMMONS
LIVER REGULATOR
For all Diseases of the Liver, Kidneys, Stomach and Spleen.

This purely vegetable preparation, now so celebrated as a Family Medicine, originated in the South in 1828. It acts gently on the Bowels and Kidneys and corrects the action of the Liver, and is, therefore, the best preparatory medicine, whatever the sickness may prove to be. In all common diseases it will, unassisted by any other medicine, effect a speedy cure.

The Regulator is safe to administer in any condition of the system, and under no circumstances can it do harm. It will invigorate like a glass of wine, but is no intoxicating beverage to lead to intemperance; will promote digestion, dissipate headache, and generally tone up the system. The dose is small, not unpleasant, and its virtues undoubted.

No loss of time, no interruption or stoppage of business while taking the Regulator.

Children complaining of Colic, Headache, or Sick Stomach, a teaspoonful or more will give relief.

If taken occasionally by patients exposed to MALARIA, will expel the poison and protect them from attack.

A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.

I have been practicing medicine for twenty years, and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system. DOWNS' ELIXIR.
N. H. DOWNS'
Vegetable Balsamic
ELIXIR
For the cure of
Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Croup, Asthma, Pleurisy, Hoarseness, Influenza, Spitting Blood, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the Throat, Chest, and Lungs. In all cases where this Elixir is used its efficacy is at once manifested, convincing the most incredulous that is not incurable, if properly attended to.—At its commencement it is but a slight irritation of the membrane which covers the Lungs; then an inflamation, when the cough is rather dry, local fever, and the pulse more frequent, the cheeks flushed and chills more common. This Elixir in curing the above complaints, operates so as to remove all morbid irritations and inflamation from the lungs to the surface, and finally expel them from the system. It facilitates expectoration.

It heals the ulcerated surfaces and relieves the cough and makes the breathing easy. It supports the strength and at the same time reduces the fever. It is free from strong opiate and astringent articles, which are of so drying a nature as to be in great danger of destroying the patient; whereas this medicine never dries or stops the cough, but, by removing the CAUSE, consequently, when the cough is cured the patient is well. Send address for pamphlet giving full directions, free.

Price 35 cts., 50 cts., and $1.00 per bottle.
